

Design without limitations

It's Concrete! is formally trained by Fu Tung Cheng at Cheng Designs, one of the country's premier innovators of concrete design and fabrication. We've received his Advanced Countertop Training Certification as well as his Advanced Islands and Walls Certification.

Along with producing pieces using Cheng Designs proprietary Geocrete finish, we have also worked with Buddy Rhodes concrete mix and with the insights of Buddy himself and his staff, we now produce exceptional concrete commissions with both proprietary styles.

It's Concrete!

The only limitation is your imagination...

Art for your kitchen, bath, and more...

It's Concrete! is a custom concrete fabricating business based in the design rich San Francisco Bay Area. Our medium for creativity is concrete. Architects, designers, artisans, and craftsmen have found that they can take this material and create works of art and function.

We are a full service shop that can design and fabricate unique and genuine concrete creations. We offer our services to the San Francisco Bay Area, including the Peninsula, East Bay, and South Bay.

In addition to our design abilities, we welcome custom designs and the opportunity to work creatively with architects, designers, and contractors.

How can we serve you? We work closely with you, the architect, designer, and contractor to better achieve your design goals. We work with an abundance of materials to create your design so it projects that unique and genuine look that sets you apart. Our shop is flexible enough to design and use all available materials to turn your concept into your client's most valued statement in their home.

Our pricing is comparable to high end granite and marble but without the limitations associated with these materials.

We invite you to contact or visit us when it comes to designing your next project. We will work with you to transform your ideas into a custom piece that surpasses your expectations. Stop by our shop to be inspired!
